BankAlert saves card issuers £extra millions in CNP fraud

Early Warning is successfully countering CNP fraud by harnessing the power of the collective experience of its victims. Using the latest web-based technology to capture and circulate fraudulent card details as they are reported, rapid verification then frustrates repeat offences.

With the authorities making use of the same live information, both suppliers of the data and its recipients have the satisfaction of knowing that the fraudsters are more likely to be prosecuted.

As low costs, operational simplicity and tangible results encourage rising participation in BankAlert services, there is a corresponding rise in success against the cheats, as the system goes from strength to strength.
